WHOLE COMMUNITY CATECHESIS PENTECOST

On Pentecost, we celebrate the day on which the Holy Spirit came upon the disciples in a form resembling tongues of fire, empowering them to proclaim the message that Jesus is risen from the dead. According to Acts of the Apostles (1:13-14), Mary, the apostles, and other disciples had been huddled together in an upper room after the ascension of Jesus. But on this day they went forth from that room as new people, alive in the Spirit, speaking in tongues and winning over believers by the thousands.

A few special features mark the Mass of Pentecost Sunday. The option for the First Reading for Saturday's Vigil Mass, for example, are taken from the Old Testament. Throughout the Easter season, all the readings come from the New Testament—except, of course, the Responsorial Psalm. Saturday's First Reading foreshadows the coming of the Spirit. On Sunday, the First Reading comes from Acts of the Apostles, and it tells the story of Pentecost. After the Second Reading, everyone sings or says the Pentecost Sequence, a special hymn that tells the meaning of this day.

If the priest uses Eucharistic Prayer I, he inserts a special phrase saying that this is the day "on which the Holy Spirit appeared to the Apostles in tongues of fire." The Mass concludes with a double "alleluia." The deacon or priest adds the words to his dismissal, and you answer, "Thanks be to God, alleluia, alleluia." This joyful acclamation concludes the Church's celebration of Easter.

The Paschal candle burns throughout the Pentecost Mass, as it does for the fifty days of Easter Time. After Mass, however, it is moved from its place near the ambo to a position in the baptistry.

If the soul is sick, it needs medicine, salve that can only come in and through Jesus Christ... How does the priest heal the sick soul? Bishop Barron states: "We heal the soul by bringing to bear the salvator, the healer, the one who in his person reconciled God and us, who opened soul to the divine power." (Bridging the Great Divide, 235). The priest, through the sacraments, the Sacred Liturgy, the Christian tradition, the Christian imagination, and in and through the doctrine of the Church, becomes the one who is a "bearer of the new being" and these medicines are "symbols of transformation" whose primary purpose is to change the lives of Christians by drawing them into the imitatio Christi" (Bridging the Great Divide, 237). www.ncregister.com/blog/bishop-robert-barron
