HELPING HANDS PRAYER

Faithful God, whose everlasting covenant with us is sealed in the blood of Christ, be present in the midst of Your people: For all that You command us we will do. In the book of the covenant, speak to our hearts. By the blood of the covenant, purify our consciences. As we give thanks with bread and cup for the mercy that has found us, gather all your children in forgiveness. We ask this through the Mediator who pleads on our behalf, Jesus Christ, Who lives and reigns with You in the unity of the Holy Spirit, God for ever and ever. Amen.

All students in grades Pre-K through 5 are invited to attend a Catholic Vacation Bible School at St. Brigid Center in Meadville July 22-26, 5:30-8:30pm. Sign up at: www.epiphanymeadville.org/vbs

Take a minute on this day, the feast of Corpus Christi (the Body and Blood of Christ), to consider the power of the Eucharist. The transformation of bread and wine isn't something that we humans came up with or do; it is the work of God. It is God Himself who has chosen to stand between us and His Justice, and He has taken on the punishment for our disobedience. Should we have any fear then, to ask Him anything? He has given all for us because He loves us. Then let us go to Him in all humility and trust believing that He only wants what is best for us.

Corpus Christi Procession: the procession starts today in Meadville at St. Mary's at 12:45pm with adoration. At 1:45pm we will process up to St. Brigid's for another prayer interlude, then around 2:30pm process to St. Agatha's. Solemn Benediction will be at 2:45pm followed by a reception. Everyone is encouraged to attend! Altar servers, please meet at St. Mary's at 12:30pm to vest and for further instructions.

You don't have to attend the entire procession; just come and participate as your schedule permits.

WHOLE COMMUNITY CATECHESIS

EUCCHARISTIC PROCESSIONS

The Body of Christ under the form of bread may be carried in solemn procession through public streets. The practice, more frequent in past generations and among certain ethnic groups, is still encouraged.

A Eucharistic procession forms after Mass or after a period of adoration. It is especially appropriate on the Solemnity of the Body and Blood of Christ. Usually a priest places a large, unbroken, consecrated host inside a glass protector called a lunette. He then inserts the lunette into a monstrance. A monstrance is a beautifully crafted vessel that draws attention to the host.

The priest, vested for Mass or wearing a white cope, holds the monstrance aloft. Ministers carrying candles and incense join him. Additional ministers may carry a canopy above the priest and the monstrance. The faithful join the procession, singing hymns and offering prayers as they walk.

The procession may pause at stations decorated for the occasion, where the priest blesses the faithful with the monstrance. Ideally, the procession begins at one church and ends at another, where the priest gives a final benediction and reposes the Blessed Sacrament in the tabernacle. Alternately, the procession may return to the church from which it began.

Eucharistic processions evangelize the civic community, as Catholics witness to their faith.

Throughout the twentieth century, the faithful began sharing communion at Mass more frequently than they did before, and many Eucharistic devotions faded. The main reason Jesus gave His body and blood was for us to take, eat, and drink. Although some Eucharistic devotions are rarely seen, it is more important to see the faithful sharing communion at Mass.
