QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Suggested text for faith sharing: Today's Gospel

Adults – What does it mean for you to “see”? Are there blind spots in your life?

Youth – “Master, I want to see!” What do you most want to be able to “see” in your own life? How are you blind?

Children – What would you like to ask Jesus for?

HELPING HANDS PRAYER O God, light to the blind and joy to the afflicted, in Your only-begotten Son You have given us a high priest Who is just and compassionate toward those who groan beneath the burden of oppression and sorrow. Listen, then, to the cry of our prayer: May all who are in need recognize You in Jesus of Nazareth and gladly follow Jesus on the way that leads to You. We ask this through our Lord Jesus Christ, Your Son, Who lives and reigns with You in the unity of the Holy Spirit, God for ever and ever. Amen.

NATIONAL
Eucharistic Revival

After Jesus' emphatic statement about His flesh and blood being true food and drink in John 6, many of His followers left. (isn't it curious that the verse stating that many of Jesus' followers left is John 6:66?) Jesus looked at His apostles and asked if they were going to leave Him, too. Peter replied, "Lord, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life" (vs. 68). Judas Iscariot was the first to leave later on, and then throughout Church history there have been schisms and reformations of people unable to accept Jesus' literal words on one topic or another. The unfortunate effect of leaving the Church is that one is leaving the succession of bishops who consecrate new priests. Even if new denominations raise up new pastors, those pastors don't have the sacrament of Holy Orders and cannot say Mass, where the bread and wine is changed into the Body and Blood of Christ. Thank Jesus for His continual presence in the Eucharist, and pray for the grace to always be faithful to Him.

WHOLE COMMUNITY CATECHESIS

All Saints

Paul Turner

In designating one day on our calendar for all the saints, the Church chooses a time to honor our heroes — the men and women whose example we admire. Coming near the end of the church year, the solemnity of All Saints invites us into the mystery of death and the promise of eternal life.

An early tradition placed the festival on May 13. According to one story, Pope Boniface IV (himself a saint) began the celebration in Rome. On that date in 609, he dedicated a very old building as a new church. The Pantheon had been built to honor all the pagan gods, but Boniface rededicated the building as a Christian church in the seventh century. He brought the relics of the martyrs from the catacombs to this famous public place of worship. The parade of relics changed the Pantheon from a place for worship of all pagan gods to a place that honored Mary and all the Christian saints — and in turn the one Christian God. Eventually the idea of a feast of all saints was transferred to November 1, near the end of the Church year.

The Church honors many saints with a day of their own on the general liturgical calendar, but there are many more saints than those. Since Vatican II, the number of men and women canonized as saints has increased considerably. Although we do not celebrate all their names on specific dates in all our churches throughout the year, we do gather them as one on this day.

Secular tradition has turned the eve of All Saints (i.e., Halloween or All Hallows Eve) into a kind of anti-festival, a night when heroes of the underworld take command.

The Mass for All Saints Day always replaces the one for Ordinary Time, even when it falls on a Sunday.
